[Date, Month, Year]

Dear Ladies of Hey Phi Hey Sorority, Incorporated,

Over [insert age of sorority] years ago, a group of college educated women formed Hey Phi Hey, Incorporated. Those students used their collective strength to endorse high scholastic and ethical standards, unity and friendship among college women, to also study and help alleviate problems concerning girls and women in order to promote their social stature, to maintain a progressive interest in college life, and to [insert sorority mission statement].

Educating myself with a little background and history has helped me to believe that the ladies of Hey Phi Hey deeply value advancing sisterhood by exemplifying and epitomizing excellence through sustainable service. [Explain what history you have learned and how it ties into your interest in the sorority] This is what sparked my interest in wanting to become a member of the organization. I can genuinely say that the members then and now have become a source of motivation and positive reflection for the sorority, which is why I wish to become a part of your eminent sisterhood.

I have rendered service in my hometown by [enlist the volunteer experience you have and how it relates to the sorority as well as how it has impacted you. Discuss how you would also love to use the sorority as an additional outlet to dedicate time to serving your community. Brag about your community service]. I feel that my work with that will contribute to the sorority's [insert sorority initiative that aligns to work] because I can and will be able to raise awareness of [insert impact] impacting African American women. As a person that will be one day working within the [insert your future line of work and how your volunteer experience has aligned with it]. I feel that working with this initiative would give me a chance to promote [ ex: if you are a political science major, volunteering at schools to help kids become politically aware, you can discuss how you would do the same in your schools chapter by encouraging college students to vote at elections....].

I also feel that my strong leadership skills and drive for academic success would be a great asset to the sorority. [Discuss your major in this section, and connect the skills you've learned to how you can apply them in the sorority. Ex: if you're a marketing major, talk about how you could hold the position of social media chair for your schools chapter.] Joining a sorority is more than the popularity, publicity, letter gear and privilege. [Use this area to explain your leadership skills inside and outside of school. Are you a member of any e-boards? What positions do you hold and how will that pan out in the sorority? How do your positions contribute to your wellbeing and the wellbeing of others? How do the organizations relate to your personal mission? How will your position in your orgs help you further your skills in the workplace? This is the time to brag about your leadership skills and do it well.] It is about making a positive difference in myself and others. Joining a sorority is also about finding out new strengths about myself that I never knew I had, and to embrace strengths that I hide from everyone else. I chose this sorority because I want to be a part of a sorority that will be beneficial to me and others, something greater than myself.

It would be an honor to be selected for membership into Hey Phi Hey Sorority, Incorporated. If granted this opportunity, I would do my best to serve my community and represent the organization in a manner that is befitting to the sisterhood and its legacy.

Respectfully,

[Your name]
